Just Published,

A PRACTICAL TREATISE ON DISEASES OF THE SKIN IN CHILDREN. From the French of CAILLAULT. With Appendix, Containing Notes by ROBERT HOWARD BLAKE, Surgeon to the Leamington Hospital for Diseases of the Skin.—London: John Churchill.

"The profession may thank Mr. Blake on every account for the translation of M. Caillault's Treatise. The book does rees to be known in this country more extensively than it is; we have no doubt that as it becomes known it will become appreciated. We are altogether pleased with the method in which Mr. Blake has accomplished his part of the task."—The Medical Times and Gazette.

"M. Caillault has well performed a very difficult task. He has treated the separate affections of the skin in a very lucid manner. The work bears throughout the stamp of genuine observation, and Mr. Blake has well performed his office of translator."—British Medical Journal.

"Mr. Blake's translation of M. Caillault's work will be found to afford much practical information."—The Lancet.

In Preparation.

A TREATISE ON CANCEROUS DISEASES OF THE SKIN, and on other CURABLE AFFECTIONS likely to be mistaken for CANCER. By ROBERT HOWARD BLAKE, Surgeon to the Leamington Hospital for Diseases of the Skin.

THE HAMPTON OILS,

A most valuable cure for Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sprains, The Delicate, Stubborn, Hooping Cough, Bruises, Chilblains, Burns, Tooth-ache, Face-ache Weakness of the Limbs, and Scrofula.

THESE invaluable Oils are prepared from a family receipt, and have been used amongst families and in private practice for more than one hundred years. In consequence of the many extraordinary cures effected by them, the proprietor has resolved to make them more publicly known, and the Hampton Oils are now established as the most certain remedy for Rheumatism.

To the PROPRIETORS OF THE HAMPTON OILS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—With respect to the Hampton Oils, I cannot give them too great a name. They cured me of a lame leg in three days' standing, with which I was confined to bed eight months, under the care of the Queen's Hospital, Birmingham, but as there was no cure for me they gave me a discharge. I am now able to walk and go about. I am sure no one could have been more lame.

Yours truly, JOSEPH WILLIAMS.

SARAH SMITH, Cricket's Buildings, Hampton, Lode, Hants.

TO MR. BROWN CHEMIST, OLDBURY.

Sir,—I wish to inform you of the great benefit I have received from the use of the Hampton Oils. At or keeping my feet for four months, and having a surgeon in attendance, besides trying other remedies, which all failed in giving relief, I was advised to try the Hampton Oils, which I did, in less than a week I felt better, and after persisting myself with them a short time longer they entirely cured me, for which I am very thankful.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

THOMAS DAVIS, Oldbury Green.

Purchasers are requested to observe the signature of "LOVELL," on the Government Stamp attached to each bottle of the medicine. Sold in bottles 7½d., 1s. 1½d., and 2s. 9d. each, by all respectable Medicine Venders throughout the British Kingdom.

CITY OF COVENTRY

RELIEF FUND.

AT A MEETING held in ST. MARY'S HALL, composed of Ex-Mayors, Clergymen, Clergy, Directors of Mutual Societies, and others, the MAYOR in the Chair, on THURSDAY, the 13th NOVEMBER, 1862, the following appeal for assistance was adopted:—

WE are fully aware, though unfeigned reluctance, to make this Appeal to the wealthier among our Fellow-Citizens, on behalf of our Poor in the County, and the Country at large, ON BEHALF OF THE DISTRESSED OPERATIVES OF COVENTRY. We are not forgetful of the Munificent Bounty displayed so recently for our Aid on the bitter cry for bread which comes from Lancashire; but still we can no longer see the pitiable want which lies at our very doors silent in asking this, the only means in our power, for its relief.

Of course we can hardly expect a sum commensurate with the distress; moreover, the relief must now be spread over a period of several months, not all of being confine to the workers, as before. But we hope to be able to raise enough to save many families from pauperism, who have received liberally, and amidst the greatest privations, to preserve their independence.

That we have not taken this step till the need be came very pressing is proved by this one fact, that the number of persons receiving on the parish for relief is already increasing at the rate of upwards of 300 a week, and that the ratio of increase is rapidly rising.

Signed on behalf of the Meeting,
THOMAS SODEN,
Mayor.

Subscriptions may be sent to the MAYOR; to A. B. PEARS, Esq., Bank; Secretary, Messrs. LITTLEDALE and WOODCOCK, treasurers; or to any of the COVENTRY BANKERS.

THE WEEK.

The chief item of American intelligence is the supercession of General M'Clellan by General Burnside. It is a singular fact that directly after the change in the military command a rumour reached New York that Burnside had gone out to meet the Philistines, and had got beaten. This threw the city into a panic, but there is great reason to doubt the authenticity of the report.

Apropos of American affairs, we may mention a rumour to the effect that the Emperor of the French will undertake alone to intervene between the combatants. Whether such is his Majesty's intention remains to be seen. If his proposal is submitted and is amicably received, he will be lionized whilst England and Russia will look exceedingly small. Should the belligerents on the other hand refuse to have ought to do with him he himself must of necessity feel considerably chagrined.

The long-expected pamphlet of Prince Napoleon has been published. It is a collection of documents relating to the temporal and spiritual power of His Holiness the Pope. The pamphlet alludes first of all to the temporal power of the Pope under the ancient monarchy, in the 17th and 18th centuries. The second portion alludes to the Papal power during the period known as the first empire, and more particularly to the year 1840. The third part consists of documents relating to the temporal power of the Pope in the time of the restoration, and the fourth and last section is of a miscellaneous character, containing speeches from various quarters as to the temporal power. The pamphlet of the Prince goes far to prove that the temporal and spiritual power pertaining to the Papacy are two as distinctly dissimilar things as could well be imagined, and that any temporal power merely fell by accident into the Pope's hands. It satisfactorily proves that the attempt to discover the civic and ecclesiastical power is not a mere modern idea, but has during the last two hundred years been broached and attempted by the French people, and though for a time the temporal power may be preserved, it will very shortly be cut off from it.

Notwithstanding the fact that Prince Alfred cannot and will not be permitted to sit on the Hellenic throne, the people of Athens are resolved to have him as their monarch in preference to any other. The French by no means like this state of feeling, and consider that England, far from being adverse to the placing the Grecian crown on the second son of Queen Victoria, are covertly corresponding with certain of the leading Greek revolutionists in order if possible to make his Royal Highness's claim pre-eminent. There is no reason to suspect that there has been any underhand dealings on the part of our Government, but it is mentioned to show out of what small things jealousy will spring.

Not at a matter for very serious consideration, we should feel inclined to laugh at the means being adopted to put an end to the fearful state of things in the streets of London after nightfall. We are told and have good reason to believe, that it is extremely unsafe to attempt to go out when darkness has set in, and that if any decently-attired person has sufficient temerity to trust himself unarmed in the less frequented streets, he will most assuredly be garrotted by some one or other of the many ticket-of-leave gentlemen who are now let loose to live on society. Things must indeed
